

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system and method for exception handling includes executing a first instruction. The first instruction then returns an exception. A program counter is used to determine the location of a second instruction. The second instruction includes a pointer to at least one exception handler.

42390P13142